Punjab Police Academy is housed in a fort which was built between 1809-1812 by Maharaja Ranjit Singh at Phillaur as a counter-measure to British occupation of the Ludhiana Fort. The architect of the fort is said to have an Italian engineer. The East Indian Company' Forces took over the fort after the battle of Aliwal in 1846 and it became an important artillery arsenal and magazine. In 1863 the artillery and magazine were withdrawn from the fort and a detachment of native infantry was left as garrison. In 1891 the fort was handed over to the Police Department where the first Police Training School in the country was set-up on 9th September, 1891.

The School was raised to the status of a College in the year 1967 and to that of an Academy in 1995 which was affiliated with Guru Nanak Dev University, Amritsar in 1996 for higher police Education and Research programmes. Now it caters to the training facilities not only for Punjab but for twelve other Indian States and Union Territories as well as Central Police Organizations. The countries of Bhutan, Maldives, Afghanistan, Palestine, etc. also send their police personnel for training programmes. The Institution has undergone a number of refinements in the recent past with the establishment of latest training infra-structure backed by modern structural lay-out and specialized police training modules. Punjab Police Academy is known internationally for its more than century old tradition and professional training standards. We feel pleasure in bringing out the PPA-2016 Calendar depicting pictorial facets of the training & other related activities for all round professional shaping of the Police Personnel.
